Quarterly fund commentary

Euro denominated corporate bond markets gave back some of their recent strong gains during the last three months of 2016. The sell-off was led by the global government bond market, which came under pressure from rising inflation expectations. The rise in yields and importantly an increase in the yield spread between short and long dated bonds provide a more profitable interest rate environment for banks. This helped the banking sector to outperform the broader corporate bond market. Index data from Merrill Lynch shows euro investment grade corporate bonds lost 1.3%, while Euro banks lost 0.4% (Euro, total return). We remain defensively positioned, with a relatively high allocation to liquidity. We hold a diversified portfolio of investment grade bonds with a smaller allocation to non-financial corporate high yield bonds. Our preferred sector remains financials with further notable holdings in non-financial hybrid bonds (relatively junior bonds in a company's capital structure). Around 18% of the fund is held in US dollar denominated bonds (hedged back to euro). Given the divergent monetary policies of the US and Europe, these bonds can provide an additional level of income over their European counterparts.

Risk Warnings

The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Debt instruments are exposed to credit risk which is the ability of the borrower to repay the interest and capital on the redemption date. Changes in interest rates will result in fluctuations in the value of the fund. The fund may hold a large amount of debt instruments which are of lower credit quality and may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund. The risks described herein are the fund specific material risks. For more information please consult the current fund and share class specific Key Investor Information Document (KIID) and for a complete set of risks the current prospectus.

The forecasts and market outlook presented in this material reflect subjective judgments and assumptions of the investment manager or its delegate and unexpected events may occur. There can be no assurance that developments will transpire as forecasted in this presentation. Where securities are mentioned in this document they do not necessarily represent a specific portfolio holding and do not constitute a recommendation to purchase, hold or sell. The ongoing charges figure is based on annualised expenses for the period ending 31/08/2015. This figure may vary from year to year. It excludes portfolio transaction costs except in the case of an entry or exit charge paid by the Fund when buying or selling shares/units in another fund. The yields shown are expressed as a % per annum of the current NAV of the fund. They are an estimate for the next 12 months, assuming that the fund's portfolio remains unchanged and there are no defaults or deferrals of coupon payments or capital repayments. Cash income is estimated coupons from bonds. The gross current yield is an indication of the expected cash income over the next 12 months. The estimated gross redemption yield is a longer-term picture indicating expected annual total return. This means that in addition to expected cash income, it includes the amortised annual value of unrealised capital gains or losses of bond holdings currently held by the fund, calculated with reference to their current market price and expected redemption value made upon maturity of the bonds. Neither of the yields is guaranteed. Nor do they reflect the fund charges or the entry charge of the fund. Investors may be subject to tax on distributions.
